INTRODUCTION.

Some years ago Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Brockway of New York, W. L. Brockway, also of New York, and the Hon. Beman Brockway, of Watertown, N. Y. were engaged jointly or severally, in gathering records for a genealogy of the Brockway family, and I was invited by one or more of them to contribute the records of the branch to which I belong, and was compelled to plead ignorance. Disliking to remain under the imputation of not knowing anything of my ancestry, I employed Mr. D. Williams Patterson, of Newark Valley, to make some investigations and show me in which branch I belonged. On receiving his report, I invited my relatives to join me in making a complete genealogy of the family, but each preferred to take care of his own "knitting work."

In January, 1887, the Hon. Beman Brockway published a pamphlet of twenty-two pages, containing the result of his studies, and intimating that one of the other parties might also print a collection of records at some future time. I decided to put my collection in print as an encouragement to our cousins, and to make sure that the records should not be lost or scattered. As the family grows, there may be a chance for each member to compile and print a genealogy for himself. "So mote it be."

BROCKWAY FAMILY,

FIRST GENERATION.

I

WOLSTON BROCKWAY, the progenitor of the New England family bearing his name, was probably born in some part of England, not far from 1638. In a deposition made by him 10 July 1714, and recorded in Lyme, his age is stated at "seventy years or thereabouts," and he stated that he had dwelt in Lyme for fifty years past ; but there are indications that both his age and the length of his residence in Lyme were placed too low. He bought land with a house and barn thereon, of John Reynolds, both of Saybrook, Conn., 3 December 1659, the land being described as "one ye east sid of ye riuer ouer against ye towne of Saybrooke," and the consideration, £20 sterling. The natural inference is that he was of full age when he made this purchase, and that he settled at once in his new house, and that would fix the date of his birth about 1638, and make his residence in Lyme to cover nearly fifty-five years, in July 1714. His first home in Lyme was probably on Duck River, at some distance south of the present village of Lyme, and near Long Island Sound.

A highway laid out 24 March 1698-99, is described as follows : "The highway on the Southward side of Duck riuer is as follows : First, the highway from Wolston Brockway's Landing place is four rods wide, the landing place being in length from said highway, southwest ten rods and a half to a stub" etc. This road passed the "planting field" and thence to "Black Hall river." Between Smith's Neck and the planting field it passed Thomas Champion's house, Richard Smith's yard, Edward Lay's land and William Brockway's corner. In 1675 he sold to Isaac Watterus of Lyme, a piece of land in "the planting field," bounded northerly by the lands of the said Isaac, and easterly by the Black Hall river. In this deed he was styled Planter. -See Lyme deeds Vol. I, p. 66. On the 9th of February 1676-77, in a deed to Richard Smith he was styled Cooper. He sold land 29 April, 1682 to Christopher Christophers of New London, describing it as "all of my land purchased of John Reynolds, in the neck of land commonly called Black Point," twenty acres of upland and three and a half of meadow. He and wife Hannah, by deed dated 13 March 1707-08, gave their homestead to their son, Richard Brockway, with reservation during their lives, and a stipulation that he should pay £15 to his brother, John Brockway, on their death. In a deed to his youngest son, John Brockway, 5 September 1716, conveying five acres of land near Flat Rock Hill, he again styled himself Cooper.

He was frequently elected to some office in the town. As hayward, 13 Feb. 1676-77; fence-viewer, 24 Sept. 1677 and 9 Dec. 1679; hayward, 29 Dec. 1684; and pound-keeper on the same date; surveyor, 27 Nov. 1689 and 16 Dec. 1690; fence-viewer, Dec. 1690, 14 Dec. 1697, 15 Dec. 1698 and 15 Dec. 1701. He was elected constable 18 Dec. 1699, but refused to serve. He owned land at Tantum Morantum, near what is now Brockway's Ferry, as early as 1 Feb. 1702-3, at which date he bought forty acres of land there of Rev. Moses Noyes, which was already in Brockway's possession, but it is not known that he lived there. His car-mark for cattle, recorded at Lyme 1 June, 16—was afterward transferred to his grandson, William Brockway, Jr.

The townsmen of Lyme, 27 Aug. 1688, assessed him as "Walstone Brockway," as follows:

"3 persons,	60	00	00
"house and Lands	02	00	00
"2 Oxen, two Cows	16	00	00
"1 : 3 yerling 5 : 2 yerlings . .	12	10	00
"1 Mare 2 hogs 12 sheep	13	00	00

£103 10 00"

The tax on this amount was £0: 8: 7½. See the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vol. XXXIV, pp. 379 to 381.

He married with HANNAH BRIGGS, widow of John Harris of Boston, Mass, with whom she married 10 September, 1657.* She was born at Boston, 28 August, 1642, daughter of William and Mary Briggs.† She died at Lyme, 6 February, 1687-88. He married with a second wife whose name was HANNAH, but her maiden name has not been found. He gave his land to his children during his life. Perhaps the latest deed was to his daughter, Hannah Wade, dated 16 May, 1717, giving her certain personal property, to take effect on the death of himself and wife.

He died not long before 11 November 1717, at which date his son, Richard Brockway, was granted administration on his estate. Probably his widow died before 7 April, 1719, at which date the administrator reported that he had paid debts and charges, amounting to £24 : 1 : 7, and that £1 : 13 : 8, remained for distribution. The court ordered that the eldest son should have a double portion, 6s., each of the other seven children 3s. and 3s. to the children of Wolston Brockway, Jr., deceased, and 3s. to the children of Mary Mott, deceased. He was probably buried in Duck River cemetery in the village of Old Lyme.

* The date of the death of John Harris has not been found. He left one son, John Harris, born at Boston, 8 August, 1658, who lived at Lyme.

† John Briggs, the father of Mrs. Brockway, lived most of his life in Boston; but he bought land in Lyme, 27 October 1680, of his son-in-law, Wolston Brockway, and sold the same to his son, John Briggs, 15 February, 1680-81, "with the frame of a house thereon standing, which I purchased of John Lareby." Before 1685 he had returned to Boston.

BROCKWAY FAMILY,

SECOND GENERATION.

Children of Wolston and Hannah (Briggs) Brockway:

2

I. HANNAH BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 14 Sept. 1664, [not 24 Sept. as others have read it]; married there 23 Aug. 1682, with THOMAS CHAMPION, who was born at Saybrook, Conn., in April 1656, son of Henry and Deborah Champion. He died at Lyme in 1705. She married (2d) with JOHN WADE, and as "my daughter, Hannah Wade, of Lyme," received a deed from her father 16 May 1717, conveying to her certain personal property, on the death of himself and wife.

3

II. WILLIAM BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 25 July 1666; married there 8 March 1692-93, with ELIZABETH ———. Gregory Wilterton, of Hartford, Conn., by his will of 1674, gave him a legacy of £10, in consideration of which his father deeded land to him in 1709. He settled at Brockway's Ferry, in that part of Lyme to which Joshua, the son of Uncas, gave the name of Joshuatown; and died there 29 March 1755, in the 89th year of his age, as testified by his grave stone, still legible in the family cemetery at that place. His wife, it is said, was buried by his side, but no stone is there to tell the date. His father deeded land to him at Tantum Morantum, (Joshuatown) 8 June 1697, Lyme Records II, 302. On this land he probably settled. At the May session, in 1724, the General Court granted to him, in connection with William Pratt, who lived on the west side of Connecticut river, the right to keep a ferry, which is still known as Brockway's Ferry. He signed a paper, 7 Dec. 1724, relating to ecclesiastical matters in Lyme, North Quarter, now Hamburg.

- 4 III. WOLSTON BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 7 Feb. 1667-68 ; married there 4 Dec. 1688, with MARGARET ———. His ear-mark for cattle was recorded at Lyme, 19 May 1696, and he died there early in 1707. Letters of administration on his estate were granted to his widow, 4 June 1707, and the estate was distributed 17 March 1713-14. She married (2d) at Lyme, 7 Feb. 1710-11, with Thomas Ennis, and died there 17 Jan. 1738-39, aged 73 years. By her second marriage she had one son, Thomas Ennis, born at Lyme, 28 May 1712. 18

- 5 IV. MARY BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 16 Jan. 1669-70 ; married there 6 April 1692, with SAMUEL MOTT, of Lyme, and they had a gift of land from her father, 27 March 1697. Her name on the town record is written Marah, that being the form which town clerk, Joseph Peck, was in the habit of using for Mary. 25

- 6 V. BRIDGET BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 9 Jan. 1671 [1671-72]. The copy in Register, Vol. 23, p. 427, has the month July, which is erroneous. Beman Brockway's pamphlet says she married in 1714, with JONATHAN BEEBE. If so she must have been his second wife. Bridget, wife of Jonathan Beebe, died in East Haddam, Conn., 6 April 1756, aged eighty-six years., according to her gravestone.

- 7 VI. RICHARD BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 30 Sept. 1673 ; and the record says 31 Sept. ; married there 25 Oct. 1697, with RACHEL ———. She died at Lyme, 9 April 1718 ; and he married (2d) 5 May 1720, with ELIZABETH TIFFANY. In Dec. 1718, he was surety for Edward Lay and Samuel Chapman, to the Governor and Council of Conn. He joined the First Church in Lyme, in Oct. 1739. 33

VII. ELIZABETH BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 24 May 1676 ; married there about 1701, with WILLIAM HARRIS, of Lyme, and her father gave land to them 23 Jan. 1705-06. He probably died as early as 1710, and she married (2d) in March 1711-12, with Roger Alger, Sr. "Elizabeth, widow of Roger Alger, late of Lyme, deceased, formerly the wife of William Harris, dyed in July, in ye year 1729."

VIII. SARAH BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 23 Sept. 1679 ; married [East Haddam records,] 20 Jan. 1703 [1703-04] with NATHANIEL BECKWITH, and they were living at East Haddam 23 Nov. 1704, when her father gave land to his "well beloved son-in-law, Nathaniel Beckwith, of hadam, on the east side of the river."

10

IX. DEBORAH BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 1 May 1682.

11

X. JOHN BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., date not found ; had an ear-mark for cattle recorded 12 Feb. 1729-30. His father, in deeding his homestead to Richard Brockway, 13 March 1707-08, provided that Richard should pay £15 to John Brockway, on the death of their father. He was probably the son of the first wife, but it is possible that the second wife was his mother.

51

BROCKWAY FAMILY,

THIRD GENERATION.

Children of William and Elizabeth Brockway :

12

I. WILLIAM BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 26 Dec. 1693 ; married there 3 Oct. 1716, with PRUDENCE PRATT. See the Pratt Genealogy, p. 170. She was daughter of Capt. William and Hannah Kirtland Pratt, of Saybrook, Conn., where she was born 11 March 1685-86. He died at Brockway's Ferry, in Lyme, 4 Dec. 1774, in the eighty-first year of his age, and was buried there in the Brockway cemetery. She died 7 April 1760, aged seventy-one years, and was buried at Brockway's Ferry, where her grave stone is yet legible. William Brockway married [Lyme First Church record] 10 Nov. 1760, with Mrs. SUSANNA TINKER, both of Lyme. William Brockway, Jr., signed a paper relating to the inability of the people to call and support a minister in the North Quarter of Lyme, 7 Dec. 1724. Two years later a church was formed there, now the church at Hamburg.

13

II. JOHN BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 10 May 1697 : married there 1 March 1727, with ELIZABETH BANNING, who was born about 1705. She died at Brockway's Ferry, in Lyme, 26 April 1738, in her thirty-third year, and was buried there in the Brockway cemetery. He married (2d), at Lyme, 22 March 1739, with SARAH SCOVIL, of Saybrook, who was born about 1708. She died 12 June 1770, in her sixty-second year, and was buried in the family cemetery at Brockway's Ferry. She was a large, resolute woman, and tradition says that her husband once went hunting, and on his return, without game, found that she had caught two deer on the smooth ice, cut their throats, and drawn them home. He married (3d) with a widow AVERY. He bore the military title of lieutenant. He died 27 Nov. 1777, in the eighty-first year of his age, and was buried in the family cemetery at Brockway's Ferry. He also signed the paper, 7 Dec. 1724, relating to ecclesiastical matters in Lyme North Quarter.

61

14

III. RICHARD BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 11 Sept. 1699; married, probably, with DEBORAH REED. He settled near the First Church in Lyme, and was probably a member of it, but the loss of the early records makes the proof difficult. Mr. Charles Hallam Brockway furnished the names of his children, as we have given them. Possibly he had a wife BRIDGET, as a grave-stone at Brockway's Ferry seems to show that Thomas Brockway, son of Capt. Richard and Mrs. Bridget Brockway, died 16 Sept. 1742, in his third year. A pair of small stones, near those of Thomas, bear no inscription except R. B., and may mark the grave of another child of Richard Brockway. Richard Brockway was one of the signers of the Lyme North Quarter paper 7 Dec. 1724.

IV. ELIZABETH BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 2 March 1701-02.

Conn., 26 Oct. 1689. He died before 17 March 1713-14, at which time the estate of his father was distributed, and he not mentioned, while his brother, Samuel Brockway, was called the eldest son, and received a double portion.

The land lay at Fishing Cove.

76

- 20 III. JONATHAN BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 10 May 1694. It seems probable that he died before 21 Jan. 1734-35, at which date his brothers and sisters deeded land at Fishing Cove, in Lyme, to Samuel Selden, and his name does not appear in the conveyance. See Lyme Land Records, Vol. V, p. 273.

- 21 IV. DEBORAH BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 11 Nov. 1696; married with STEPHEN CHAMPION, of Lyme. She joined with her brothers and sister in selling to Samuel Selden, some land at Fishing Cove, in Lyme, 21 Jan. 1734-35. The wife of Stephen Champion died at Lyme, 3 Oct. 1737.

She died 29 Nov. 1811, in her seventy-fourth year, of apoplexy or "palsy." 143

64 IV. SARAH BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 15 March 1734. She married with NATHAN BECKWITH, of East Haddam, Conn., who died before 25 Oct. 1761, when she, a widow, had four children baptized at Hadlyme, Conn.; yet tradition says "she married with —— BAKER and went west;" but no record of that marriage has been found, unless it be the following: Constant Baker, of Millington, Conn., married at Lyme 26 March 1778, with —— BROCKWAY. If this was her second marriage the record not only omits her christian name, but gives her maiden name instead of her married surname.

65 V. MARY BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 26 April 1738; married, as Mary Banning Brockway, 4 April 1761, with ELIJAH BINGHAM, at Lyme, "and died at New London, Conn." They had eleven children. See the Willimantic Journal for 28 Aug. 1863.

Children of John and Sarah (Scovil) Brockway:

66 VI. ELIHU BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 23 March 1740 ; was boating stone for a house, which in 1885 was occupied by George Warner, and was accidentally drowned, 17 May 1771, in his thirty-second year, according to his gravestone at Brockway's Ferry. He was not married.

67 VII. DOROTHY BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 3 June 1742. She married with BENJAMIN BAKER, and died 16 June, 1772, in her twenty-eighth year, as is said by her gravestone at Brockway's Ferry.

68 VIII. EZEKIEL BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 8 May, 1745 ; died there 17 Sept. 1751, in his seventh year, and was buried in the family cemetery, at Brockway's Ferry.

Children of Richard and Deborah (Reed) Brockway:

14

69 I. RICHARD BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., about 1730 ; and perhaps it was he who was baptized there (First Church Record) 27 May 1733, and the names of his parents not recorded. He married with DESIRE MITCHELL, and settled near Brockway's Ferry in Lyme. He died in Lyme, 15 Jan. 1812, aged eighty-two years. She was born about 1731, and died 16 Jan. 1814, aged eighty-two years. They were buried in the family cemetery, at Brockway's Ferry, in Lyme. He was called Captain Richard.

152

70 II. EZRA BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 24 May 1732 ; married there 14 Nov. 1754, with DORCAS GIDDINGS, who was born about 1736, and died 7 March 1814, aged seventy-eight years. He died 15 April 1814, aged eighty-two years. They were buried in the family cemetery at Brockway's Ferry, in Lyme.

Children of Captain Richard and Mrs. Bridget Brockway:

14

71 III. THOMAS BROCKWAY, died at Brockway's

Ferry, 16 Sept. 1742, in his third year, and was buried there.

- 72 IV. R. BROCKWAY. The only authority for this is a pair of small gravestones in the cemetery at Brockway's Ferry (near the grave of Thomas above) one of which bears the inscription "R. B.," and nothing more. It may have been Rachel or Ruth.

Children of Ebenezer and Sarah (Buckingham) Brockway :

- 73 I. EBENEZER BROCKWAY, b. at Saybrook, Conn., 16 Jan. 1735-36. He was distinguished from the other Ebenezer Brockways, by being called "Winking Nezer," as a weakness of his eyes caused a habit of winking. 16 158

- 74 II. LEBBEUS BROCKWAY, b. at Saybrook, Conn., 29 Dec. 1738.

- 75 III. ELIJAH BROCKWAY, b. at Saybrook, Conn., 29 Nov. 1744. He settled in Saybrook, opposite Brockway's Ferry, and was remembered by Charles Hallam Brockway, in 1883, as having lived there about 1813. 161

Children of Samuel and ^{Elizabeth} Brockway :

- 76 I WOLSTON BROCKWAY was born about 1723; perhaps at Lyme, Conn.; perhaps at Branford, Conn., and he may be that Wolston Brockway who was baptized at the First Church in Lyme, 13 June 1731, and no record made of his parents' names, but that supposition is made improbable by the fact that he was baptized in manhood. He married, in 1744, with DORCAS WEEDEN or WHEDEN, of Branford, and settled in Sharon, Conn., about 1750. Their homestead is still occupied by their descendents. It lies in the south part of the town, bordering on Kent, and is about one mile from the west line of Connecticut. A Congregational church was formed about two miles from his house, at what is now called Amenias Union, just on the State line, about the fall of 1759, and in this church he and his wife were publicly baptized, 16 Nov. 1760. A modern observer, who should com- 19 164 pare the farm on which he settled, on the south end of Sharon mountain, with one that was offered to him at the same price, in the beautiful Oblong Valley, in the adjoining town of Amenia, N. Y., might wonder what influenced his choice.

77

II. TIMOTHY BROCKWAY, b. at Branford, Conn.; married with MERCY ———. He settled at Sharon and died there before 10 Nov. 1759, at which date his widow, Mercy Brockway, had their three children baptized. She was probably that Mercy Brockway who married at Sharon, 11 March 1760, in the evening, with ASHBEL GOODRICH.

171

III. JEREMIAH BROCKWAY is the name which tradition gives as one of this household, and it is said that he dwelt in the Oblong Valley, in Amenia, N. Y., but no records have been found which refer to him.

Children of Ephraim and Susanna (Carrier) Brockway :

79

I. EPHRAIM BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 31 March 1728, and was drowned there, 29 June 1738, aged ten years and three months, according to the record of the First Church.

80

II. ASA BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 12 July 1730. His name is not again found, and he may have been that child of Ephraim Brockway, who died 21 April 1733, according to the First Church record, which does not give the child's name.

81

III. MARGARET BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., in 1732; baptized there in the First Church, 4 June 1732. It seems likely that she lived to maturity, and married (Lyme First Church Record) 9 Dec. 1759, with AHIMAAZ REED, both of Lyme.

82

IV. JOANNA BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., in 1734; baptized there in the First Church, 31 March 1734.

83

about 1740; baptized there in the First Church, 19
Oct. 1740.

Conn., about 1741; baptized there in the First Church, 1 Nov. 1741; married there, 30 Dec. 1760, (First Church Record) with ESTHER CORKINS, both of Lyme. Her name would properly be written Calkins.

- 122 I. THOMAS BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 20 Jan. 1745 [1744-45]; a clergyman; graduated at Yale College in 1768; was ordained as pastor of the church at Lebanon Crank, now Columbia, Conn., 24 June 1772, having preached there since Jan. 1772. He married 8 Dec. 1772, with EUNICE LATHROP, daughter of Elijah and Susanna (Lord) Lathrop, of Norwich, Conn., where she was born 13 Sept. 1753. She removed to Clinton, Oneida county, N. Y., and died there, at the house of her son, Lathrop Brockway, 16 Sept. 1823. The following inscription may be read in the cemetery at Columbia. 228

"In Memory of the
REV. THOMAS BROCKWAY, A. M.

He died July 5th, A. D., 1807, in the 36 Year of his ministry and in the 63 Year of his age.

As an Husband he was tender,
as a Father affectionate and as a Friend sincere.

As a minister of Christ
 he shunned not to declare all the counsel of God, and was wise in turning men
 to righteousness.
 Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee
 a crown of life. Rev. IId 10th."

The following account of his ministry is copied from pages 14 to 18, of a pamphlet entitled The 150th Anniversary of the organization of the Congregational Church, in Columbia, Conn, Oct. 24, 1866, and it follows the history of the pastorate of the Rev. Eleazar Whelock, D. D.

"A little more than two years and the fourth pastor was settled, Rev. Thomas Brockway. Mr. Brockway was born in Lyme, in the year 1744. He was graduated at Yale College in 1768.

"In January, 1772, he received a call to settle over this church and society. The terms of the settlement were as follows: 'Voted to give Mr. Thomas Brockway two hundred pounds settlement, one hundred to be paid at the end of the first year, and fifty pounds at the end of each of the two following years. Also, to give him ninety pounds salary, and to get him as many cords of wood yearly, at six shillings a cord as he desires, not exceeding thirty cords, to be deducted out of the above ninety pounds.'

"He was ordained the 24th of June, 1772. The Wednesday previous was observed as a day of fasting and prayer with reference to the occasion. A person was chosen in behalf of the church and society to return thanks to the Reverend Council for their assistance in ordaining Mr. Brockway. The ministers invited on the Council were, Rev. Messrs. Solomon Williams, of Lebanon; Timothy Stone, of Goshen; Joseph Huntington, of South Coventry; Benjamin Pomeroy, of Hebron; Samuel Lockwood, of Andover; George Beckwith and Stephen Johnson. The sermon was preached by Rev. Stephen Clark, of Kensington, from 2 Cor. 4, 1, which, in accordance with a vote of the society, was published.

“The earliest Church Records of any extent, are in the handwriting of Mr. Brockway, commencing with his settlement. When he began his ministry, the church consisted of sixty-nine members; thirty-two males, and thirty-seven females. He was with this people during the troublous times of war, when the life of some of our churches, as well as of many of our noble-hearted patriots, was put in jeopardy. He was ready to share with his people in their pecuniary struggles, proposing ‘to give in fifteen pounds a year till the enemy withdrew, and ten pounds a year till the Continental debt be paid.’ But this was not enough. As soon as the news of the burning of New London reached this place, ‘he started off with his long gun and deacons and parishioners to assist in doing battle with the enemy.’

“The seasons of special religious interest during his ministry will be noticed in his own words, taken from an account published near the close of his life in April 1803, in the Connecticut Evangelical Magazine. ‘Compared with other accounts, I have little to say, yet on the score of sovereign grace, and the almighty power of the Divine Spirit in subduing the sinner, I have much to say. I can bear the same testimony with those that have labored in a larger field that with the Lord there is mercy, and with Him is plentiful redemption.’

“One still remains with us who was a subject of that revival of 1801, and united with the church that year, whose wife,—also a subject and uniting with the church then,—has passed away during the present year. Thirty-five were added to the church as the fruits of that revival. The whole number admitted to the church during Mr. Brockway’s ministry was one hundred and thirty-nine, of whom twenty-nine were by letter.

“Having been ill, and not able to preach for a few weeks, he went to Lyme, his native place, for the benefit of his health, and there he died suddenly on the night of the fourth of July, 1807. His body was brought to Columbia, and on Monday the sixth, the funeral was attended by a large concourse of people. The sermon was preached by Rev. Zebulon Ely, of Lebanon, from Hebrews 13: 7, 8.

"His pastorate was just the same number of years as Dr. Wheelock's, thirty-five. He died at the age of sixty-two, and you read upon his tombstone in yonder cemetery, 'As an husband, he was tender; as a father, affectionate; and as a friend, sincere. As a minister of Christ he shunned not to declare all the counsel of God, and was wise in turning men to righteousness.'

"Mr. Brockway married EUNICE LATHROP, of Norwich, Dec. 18, 1772. They had thirteen children, three sons and ten daughters; two of whom, a son and daughter, are buried by the side of the father. Mrs. Brockway died in 1823.

"He published an epic poem, entitled 'The Gospel Tragedy,' in 1795; a sermon on 'Virtue its own rewarder,' in 1795; and one at the ordination of Rev. Bezaleel Pinneo, in Milford, Oct. 26, 1796, from Colossians 1: 26, 27."

123 II. ——— BROCKWAY, an infant, died at Lyme, Conn., 13 Oct. 1746; and was buried at Brockway's Ferry, but the gravestone does not give name, sex or age.

- 127 VI. ABNER BROCKWAY, b. Lyme, Conn., 28 Dec. 1754; married 7 Sept. 1775, probably at Lyme, with CATHARINE MARVIN, and settled in Joshuatown, on the North road where George Way lived in 1885, and half a mile from where William P. Brockway dwelt in 1885, and from there moved to Lima, N. Y., where she died in 1831. It is said that he died at Lyme 6 Sept. 1808. N. E. H. and G. Reg. XII, 246. 241

- 129 VIII. ELISHA BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., about 1759, married there 16 Dec. 1779 (First Church Record), with ABIGAIL HALL, of Lyme. There are some reasons for thinking that he and Elizabeth were twins.

They settled at Port Gibson, Miss., late in life, and died there; he 5 March 1837, aged seventy-four; she 14 June 1844.
- 133 XII. CLARK BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., about 1766; moved from Lyme to Western New York, when that country was new, and settled at Lima, now in Livingston county. He was probably that Samuel Clark Brockway, who married 3 Dec. 1789, with SALLY WADE, both of Lyme, daughter of Elisha and Mary (Jones) Wade, of Lyme, where she was b. 1 March 1768. His daughter, Lovina Brockway was baptized 30 June 1799, by the pastor of the First Church of New London, Conn., while on a tour of missionary service at Charlestown, Ontario county, N. Y., now Lima, Livingston county, N. Y.

of his father, in the house which in 1885; was occupied by the widow of Orrin Banning. He was known as the forty-third year of his age. He was buried in the 29 Nov. 1841, aged eighty-one years. She died there 18 April 1864, aged eighty-six years, and they were large family of children, when he moved to Utica, N. Y.

- 140 VI. EZRA BROCKWAY, b. at Lyme, Conn., 268 about 1764; and it seems that he must have been a twin with Enoch, or that Enoch was younger than he, and born in 1766. He married with MARGARET BANNING, daughter of John~~son~~ (Butler) Banning, of Hadlyme, in Lyme, where she was born about 1762.
They settled in Joshmatown, and died there, he, 20

Aug. 1770; and when about sixteen years old he took a pack of clothes on his shoulder and went on foot to Stephentown, Rensselaer county, N. Y., where he taught school for five years, after which he studied law. He married at Troy, N. Y., 27 Dec.
1795, with MARY NILES, daughter of Hon. Jonathan and Mary (——) Niles, of Stephentown. She was born 25 March 1777. They settled, it is said, on the Susquehanna River, at a place called Susquehanna, Penn., but whether in Dauphin Co., near Harrisburg, or at some place in the county of Bradford, or the county of Susquehanna, is an undecided question.
She died about December 1808, or January 1809, either at Susquehanna, Penn., or at Stephentown, N.
Y., aged nearly thirty-two years. In a letter to his daughter some years later, he describes her as "the perfection of feminine form," and others have often referred to her as having remarkable beauty. Her death was caused by consumption. He married (2d), at Troy,

N. Y., with ELIZABETH HALSEY, daughter of Silas and Mercy (Bugsbee) Halsey. She was born about July 1792. They dwelt in Troy till the early part of 1824, then settled in Lisle, N. Y., where he bought a farm of four hundred acres, and engaged in farming, lumbering, trading, and tavern-keeping. He was postmaster at Lisle from 19 Aug. 1829 to 1 April 1834. The tavern which he kept stood opposite the present railway station in Lisle, and was burned some years after his death, and the loss of his family record in that fire has made it hard to obtain facts. He was a man of unusual personal beauty and suavity of manner, and a favorite with all who made his acquaintance. About January 1833, his business required him to spend the night at Binghamton, N. Y., and the tavern-keeper put him in a bed with damp sheets, which gave him rheumatism, ending in neuralgia of the heart, which after twenty months of acute suffering, caused his death 30 Sept. 1834. He possessed great force and energy, with strong and tender affections, and deep religious convictions. His widow married (2d) with ——— FRENCH, of Lisle. She died 21 Oct. 1869, aged seventy-seven years and three months.

They dwelt for several years at Dover, Dutchess County, N. Y., perhaps till 1790; then moved to Schodack, N. He built a good house, which is yet standing, on the Boston and Albany turnpike, seven miles from Albany, and for many years kept it as a tavern. He bought land in Sharon in 1772, again in 1779, of Timothy Brockway, and in 1783. He afterward divided his farm among his sons, reserving a life-rent for himself, and moved to Chatham. Brief Memoirs of the Class of 1797. Yale College.

Pub. 1848.

"DIODATE BROCKWAY,

was born Dec. 29, 1776, at Columbia, Windham county, Conn. His father, Rev. Thomas Brockway, a native of Lyme, Conn., graduated at Yale in 1768, was pastor of the Congregational Church in Columbia, then a Parish in the town of Lebanon, and died there, July 5th, 1807. His wife was Ennice Lathrop of Norwich, who became the mother of thirteen children, ten daughters and three sons. After the death of her husband, she removed with her son, Lathrop Brockway, to Clinton, Oneida county, N. Y., and there died Sept. 16th, 1823. 'She was a devotedly pious woman, and died in the triumphs of faith.'

'Diodate Brockway spent his childhood in Columbia. He says: 'I recollect well—and it is among my earliest reminiscences—the stir that was made in my native village by the news of the burning of New London by the British in the war of the Revolution. An express brought the news, and I saw my father and some of his parishioners start for New London with their guns.' Diodate prepared for College at a Classical School in his native place, under a succession of teachers, mostly graduates of Yale College.

"During the first six months after he left College, he taught school at East Haddam Landing; and then commenced the study of theology under the direction of Rev. Mr. Parsons, of East Haddam; and afterwards completed his studies under his father. He was licensed by the Middlesex Association, and after a few weeks commenced preaching in Ellington, Hartford county, Conn., and was ordained over the Congregational Church there, Sept. 19, 1799. His father preached on the occasion upon a stage erected in the open air. Ellington was then comparatively a new and unsettled town. Now it is populous, and one of the pleasantest in the state. There Mr. Brockway has continued to reside until the present time. In the month of July, 1804, occurred his memorable fall from the belfry to the ground floor of his new and unfinished meeting house. He thus describes the event. 'I was led by a train of circumstances to ascend the tower. A scaffolding was built around the dome posts, and taking hold of a board carelessly fastened to the dome post with but a single nail, the board gave way, the nail drawing out, and I fell backwards inside the building, the distance of sixty-five feet. It is remarkable, that on the same day, heavier men than myself had taken hold of and been supported by the same board. I remember well the first thoughts that flashed through my mind when I found myself falling, I was aware I must be instantly killed. I thought of my wife and children, and my final account. I instinctively caught at the cross timbers in falling, but in vain. I struck upon a joiner's bench, on the lower floor of the house : one of my thighs was broken, a severe wound was made in my head by a nail, and I was taken up for dead. It was some time before signs of life were discovered. Through the good providence of God I recovered, but have ever since been lame. After a partial recovery, I preached for some time sitting in a chair. It was a most wonderful escape from instant death, and is ever to be commemorated by me as a special interposition of a kind Providence in my behalf.' Since this memorable event, Mr. Brockway has not only been lame, moving with much difficulty, but his general health has been gradually declining. He says : 'For the last twenty years of my life, my health has been so poor that I have scarcely had respite from bodily suffering.' He is still the Senior Pastor of the Church in Ellington, and now has his third colleague, who he says, is 'an excellent and talented young man.' In 1827, Mr Brockway was elected a Fellow of Yale College, a station which he still fills. During his ministry he published five occasional sermons ; namely, a funeral sermon, a dedication, a missionary, an election, and a New Years sermon.

'On the 29th of October, 1799, Mr. Brockway was married to Miss Miranda Hall of Ellington ; who bore him seven children, and died March 29th, 1824. He says of her, 'she was a woman endowed with a high order of intellect, and was gifted with uncommon discretion, and devotedly pious. She died lamented by all, and to my grief and irreparable loss.' Since her death Mr. Brockway has remained single.

'Mr. Brockway says, his 'worldly circumstances are comfortable, very far below affluence, but above want.' He has an excellent housekeeper, who has lived with him forty-four years, and is now more than seventy years of age. Mr. Brockway made a public profession of religion at Columbia his native place, in 1798. He says: "Through life I have indulged a hope that I was a child of God; and I think I have earnestly desired the salvation of sinners, have labored—how feebly and imperfectly, none better understands than myself—for that glorious end. 'J. M.'"

He died at Ellington, 27 Jan. 1849, aged 73. His wife was born 19 Sept. 1780, and one of her descendants gives the date of her death as "21 March 1824," in her 44th year.

He devoted all his leisure time to the pursuits of natural science. It became a passion with him. He collected specimens of most of the plants, minerals, and birds found in New England, but devoted more time to the study of conchology than to any other branch of natural science. His cabinet contained more than 10,000 specimens of shells." He married 12 Jan 1837, with MARY ANN PHELPS, and died 23 Dec. 1865, without children.

married (2d) 22 Oct. 1855, with SARAH WARNER WRIGHT, who was born 24 June 1816, a cousin of his first wife, and both were nieces of the late Professor Warner of Amherst College. The following notice of him is taken from the Gazetteer of Hampshire County, Mass., pp. 429-430.

"Beman Brockway was born in 1815, and spent the early years of his boyhood upon the paternal homestead, and in acquiring the art "preservative of arts," in the office of the Courier, a newspaper published in Northampton. But his father was allured to the richer lands of Chantauqua county, New York, in 1832, and he followed him the next year, to be immediately solicited to undertake the publication of the Sentinel, a weekly newspaper at Mayville. The enterprise proved successful financially, and he remained as editor and proprietor eleven years, when he sold the establishment and purchased the Palladium, a weekly paper at Oswego, which he soon converted into a daily. He sold the Palladium, in 1853, having been invited by Horace Greeley to join the editorial staff of the New York Tribune. There he remained two years. His duties were laborious, but were performed to the entire acceptance of Mr. Greeley, who to the close of his eventful life manifested a strong personal and political friendship for Mr. Brockway. He returned to Oswego, and in 1858, was elected to the legislature where he served with distinction and usefulness, especially on questions affecting the canals, and was mainly instrumental in perfecting and securing the passage of an efficient law for the registration of voters. Soon after, he removed to Watertown, resumed the profession of editor, and was so engaged when, in 1865, he was invited by Governor Fenton to accept the position of private secretary; but the Governor, who highly appreciated his capacity and ability, presently tendered him the responsible office of canal appraiser, the duties of which he discharged with signal success until the expiration of his term in 1870. In the course of that year he became connected with the Watertown Daily Times and Weekly Reformer, and by successive purchases soon acquired sole proprietary rights in these two journals of Northern New York. Under his judicious management, as editor-in-chief, these papers have attained a wide circulation and a commanding influence in that part of the state where they are published. Mr. Brockway has been a member of the Editorial profession for more than half a century, and during all that time has been an able and efficient supporter of all measures devised to promote and enhance the prosperity and happiness of all classes of people, but particularly of the toiling millions. All official positions have come to him unsought and unsolicited, and all the obligations and duties attached to them have been performed by him with scrupulous fidelity. All things considered, Hon. Beman Brockway may be regarded as the most eminent son of Southampton now living."

First. That in the death of Mr. Brockway, our village has lost one of its most enterprising business men, whose abilities and tact have builded in our midst a large, successful and permanent manufacturing establishment, giving employment to hundreds of laboring men, and benefiting and enriching our whole community.

Second. That we recognize in Mr. Brockway's remarkable career those splendid qualities of pluck, nerve, determination, practical sagacity, and sterling honor, which won the confidence of business men in all parts of the United States, triumphed over all obstacles and layed deeply and firmly the foundations and builded high the superstructure of a great business establishment in our midst, which has blessed thousands of our people, and promises much good in the future.

Third. That our sorrow is intensified by the fact that death has removed him at the very time when his indomitable energy had triumphed over all obstacles; wealth had been accumulated, and the enjoyment thereof seemed at hand.

Fourth. That we extend to his family our sympathy in their deep affliction.

Fifth. That as a mark of our respect and admiration for Mr. Brockway, and as a token of the gratitude which the people of this village justly feel toward him, we cause these resolutions to be printed in the newspapers of our county, and that the president of this village cause the same to be engrossed, and that he present them to the family of the deceased.

BRIGGS RECORDS.

Those persons who are interested in the records of the family of Wolston Brockway, should feel an equal interest in the history of the kindred of his wife, Hannah Briggs, a portion of which is here given.

1303 WILLIAM BRIGGS, and wife, Mary, dwelt in Boston, as early as 1642; afterward, perhaps, at Hingham, Mass., for a few years; then again, in 1657, at Boston; and later, in Lyme, Conn., where he bought land of his son-in-law, Wolston Brockway, 27 Oct. 1680, which land he sold to his son, John Briggs, 15 Feb. 1680-81, with the frame of a house thereon, "which I purchased of John Lareby."

Mr. Hobart, perhaps at Hingham, Mass.; married at Boston, 10 Sept. 1657, with JOHN HARRIS, and with him, settled at Lyme, Conn., where he is supposed to have died. She married (2d) about 1663, with WOLSTON BROCKWAY.

NOTICE.

THE GENEALOGY OF THE BROCKWAY FAMILY is yet to be written. This publication, the third in the series of attempts, has been compiled with honest care, but under the great disadvantage of coming into the field after three other collectors of genealogical records had gleaned in it with more or less success, and our letters asking for records were often met by the reply that they had already been furnished to other persons, who were named. Selections from two of these manuscript collections have been printed, and from these pamphlets we have made such extracts as we could use to advantage in this, but of the value of what remains unprinted, we have not been permitted to judge.

The other collection of records, that of W. L. Brockway, of the City of New York, has been placed in our hands since the last page of this book was in type, even to additions and corrections; but while acknowledging its value and importance, we decided to do nothing more till the various branches of the family could heartily unite in an effort to make a complete genealogy worthy of the family.

D. WILLIAMS PATTERSON, Genealogist.
